

TOYOTA CELICA 16 ST 5 SPEED

1975 Toyota Celica 16 ST 5-speed

This car made Toyota sexy. Look at it, it is a Japanese Mustang. It looks badass. This 1975 supercoupe with its long hood/short deck proportions, 2+2 seating and original slant nose is packed with style. It's all that!

It is in a very good overall condition inside and out. Finding an original one like this is very difficult. The vintage Japanese car market is still immature. But they are gaining popularity and interest and prices are rising. The right time to buy one in this hard to find condition is now.

It has a beautiful and undamaged black vinyl interior. Nice dashboard lay-out with lots of clocks. Power comes from the very reliable Toyota 2T engine. A cast iron block with alloy cylinder head with hemispherical combustion chamber - 1588 cc - single carburetor producing 102 hp attached to a very smooth 5-speed manual T50 gearbox.

This 1975 Celica is the last year of production. It is in a very good overall condition inside and outside. As you know lots of these Celica's were modified. Finding an original one like this is very difficult. You may be hard-pressed to find one even in rough condition. And this example is really one of the very best we have had for years. Very solid.

Car is sold in the condition as is - what you see is what you get. Priced to sell.
