

MASERATI QUATTROPORTE SPORT GT

2007 Maserati Quattroporte Sport GT with the 4.2L V8 ZF automatic producing 400bhp
The Maserati Quattroporte is a four-door luxury sports sedan produced by Italian automobile manufacturer Maserati. The name translated from Italian means "four doors". The fifth generation of the Quattroporte (Tipo M139) debuted at the Frankfurt Motor Show on 9 September 2003; production started in 2003. Exterior and interior design was penned by Pininfarina's then chief designer Ken Okuyama. The last M139 Quattroporte was built on 20 December 2012.
The Quattroporte, which we are presenting here today, is the Sport GT variant. She is a one Belgian owner car that was ordered new from FMA in Antwerp in the stealthy Nero Carbonio. She rides on a sporty set of original seven-spoke 20 inch wheels, which we had refurbished to new condition as this car is worth every bit of attention she deserves. As she is the Sport GT variant, she comes with the cool dark mesh front and side grilles with red accents that hark back to the vintage Maserati racing models. Her exterior presents very well.
Our Quattroporte is not only great to look at but also a very comfortable place to spend many miles. Whether it is to the supermarket or unleashing her symphonic V8 on the Stelvio Pass in the Alps, she can do it all. Inside you will find an all black leather interior with red stitches to add some sportiness. And the best feature? That is for sure all of her carbon fibre. From the dashboard to her pull-down tables for the rear passengers. And if the rear passengers want extra comfort, they also have seat heating for the winter period. We love to drive her, especially with the sunroof open in summer to hear the lovely exhaust note.

The Sport GT variant does not only have cosmetic upgrades but also some performance upgrades: a re-configured transmission providing faster gearshifts and a firmer Skyhook suspension system; courtesy of new software calibrations, cross-drilled brake rotors, and braided brake lines. She is powered by the amazing 4.2L V8, which is in essence the same as in the Ferrari F430 but with a different crankshaft. And the best part is for sure the sound. It is scientifically proven that women get turned on by the sound of a Maserati engine revving... Our Quattroporte comes with the 6-speed ZF-supplied automatic transmission instead of the DuoSelect F1 gearbox and this is a good thing as the ZF gearbox is the one you want. It is a strong and reliable gearbox as proven by this example. Her only owner has enjoyed her for 136.000km on many business and holiday trips and has had a great ownership throughout. The 4.2L V8 is, contrary to belief, a reliable unit and coupled to this ZF gearbox, you can be assured that she is ready for many more fun miles. So what are you waiting for? Get in touch now to schedule your test drive and discover this wonderful example of a Maserati Quattroporte.
