

LAMBORGHINI MURCIELAGO - LIBERTY WALK PERFORMANCE

2002 Lamborghini Murciélago Liberty Walk Performance powered by the 6.2L V12 engine producing 572 bhp

The Lamborghini Murciélago is a sports car produced by Italian automotive manufacturer Lamborghini between 2001 and 2010. The successor to the Diablo and flagship V12 of the automaker's lineup, the Murciélago was introduced as a coupé in 2001. The car was first available in North America for the 2002 model year. The Murciélago was Lamborghini's first new design in eleven years, and was also the brand's first new model under the ownership of German parent company Audi, which is owned by Volkswagen. The car is designed by Belgian Luc Donckerwolke, Lamborghini's head of design from 1998 to 2005.

Murcielagos are arguably one of the best Lamborghinis ever produced as it is the last V12 they offered with a manual gearbox, such as the example which we are presenting here today. They were also available with the popular (for its time) automatic gearbox. For sheer excitement, the manual is the one you want. Especially with a screaming straight-pipe exhaust with valves to keep the neighbours happy.

The example which we are presenting here today is truly unique and a very rare opportunity to own with its 1 of 20 Liberty Walk Performance body kit. LB Performance is a Japanese body kit producer that challenges the status quo and designs the craziest kits for the rarest supercars. Even Ferrari F40 and Lamborghini Countach... It is quite rare to get a genuine LB Performance built car outside of Japan and especially a Murcielago. So if you are looking for something truly unique to add to your collection, keep reading...

This Murcielago was delivered new to the United States, where she stayed until 2011 before being exported to Japan where the LB Performance kit was installed. This kit consists of a front and rear bumper, spoiler, wider overfenders, wheels, LED lights, stickers, etc. And we left her untouched, from the full wrap all the way to the LED lights in the wheels, underside, bumpers, etc. That is how she left Liberty Walk Performance. Underneath her unique wrap she has a stunning yellow metallic paint from factory.

Let's talk about her drive train... Her 6.2L V12 engine screams with a straight pipe exhaust. And yes she has valves which are controlled via a remote. Mated to this legendary engine you will find a gated manual gearbox. And yes, this is for sure our favourite part. The clicks that come from the shifter are like music. She shifts and drives very smoothly. You will also be happy to hear that she comes with a lift system in the front to get over obstacles. She is rather low...

Being a USA car the Carfax shows her history and that she has a clean title. From 2011 onwards she spent 5000 miles in Japan before we imported her into Europe. This means that she can be re-imported to the USA without any problem. Car Cave USA, based in Aiken, SC can assist with the process.

This is your chance to own a manual Murcielago with a 1 of 20 Liberty Walk Performance kit. A very rare and unique example that rarely comes to market. Especially built by LB Performance and that are import eligible for the United States.

Our murcielago is subject to 21% VAT and can therefore be sold without VAT to a foreign VAT payer.
